

RUST

Very common and widespread the first symptoms appear in spring as bright orange pustules on leaf undersides, leaf stalks and branches and then more obviously are the yellow-orange pustules that are visible during the summer again on the underside of the leaves.

Treatment is simple - firstly and most importantly is good hygiene, the spores overwinter on fallen leaves and should be cleared up in autumn.

During the growing season a regular spray with Fungus Clear will help control the rust as well as mildew and blackspot.